INFO SHEET

Who are we?

Plugsurfing started as a small charging app over a decade ago, but today we're so much more. We've formed hundreds of partnerships within the EV charging industry and recently became part of Fleetcor.

Together, we are building a growing ecosystem, where charge point operators, carmakers and drivers benefit from each other. Discover what we can do for you.

Plugsurfing for drivers

With Plugsurfing, charging on the road is as easy as at home. Whether you're on a business or leisure trip or need public charging in your daily life, Plugsurfing has got you covered.

By partnering with hundreds of charge point operators across Europe, we ensure you can charge anywhere you go. And when you use Plugsurfing for all your public charging needs, you can easily keep track of your charging history in one place.

Plugsurfing for Charge Point Operators

To speed up the transition to EVs, we need to knock down barriers and work together. The simplest way to do that is through roaming.

When you open your charging network for roaming, you instantly reach 1.5 million new potential customers. They benefit from the added charging capacity, you get more charging sessions, and our product becomes even more appealing. It's a win-win-win!

Plugsurfing for carmakers

Offer your drivers a seamless digital experience for charging and driving and give them access to one of the widest EV charging networks in Europe.

How much you want to customize this access is up to you. You can build your charging experience around a white-label charging app and adjust how it looks and feel. Alternatively, you can use our developer platform to bring handy charging features to the car's dashboard or your own app.
